BUTTERS

Body Butters are a cosmetic product for our body slightly different from body creams. The main differences between them are their textures, since while creams are lighter and more fluid, butters have more density.

Butters are natural products that provide our skin with extra hydration, giving it great softness and intense nutrition without leaving an oily appearance.

The new line consists of three butters with different active ingredients: Shea, Coco and Mango. In addition to the characteristic benefits of each of the different active ingredients, each butter provides a very nice and light fragrance.

The SyS Laboratory Body Butter collection is presented in a handy can of 250 ml that allows us to apply it comfortably. A gentle massage with our body butter after a shower or bath with hot water it will increase the intensity of its effect as we have opened the pores of our skin.

SHEA BODY BUTTER
